“ I have a special bird in swamp. I told Austin it wss my good omen. Austin smiled...he noticed also and researched. It is a black tipped wood stork. An impirtant bird to southern swamps. Now whenever I see my stork...I will know Austin is out here watching over our place. Miss you Austin. Mrs T.

“ Weather we were fishing or just talking about life. He was always so optimistic about life. The values he had were far from this era we live in today. When he loved boy did he love hard. As one of many of his childhood friends. The laughs and plots we came up with to terrorize the older adults. I will forever cherish and carry with me into the next life.

The most valuable of many lessons he taught me in this life is to never take anything for granted and to cherish ever second GOD gives you on this earth.

Because there is no telling when it will be your last. My brother my partner in crime this is definitely not a goodbye. This is until we meet again. You will forever and always be loved by the many of those you've had the honor of touching. Just with your presence alone.

AKA “MUDGUN”

I love your brother 100 100
