“ I know how much this is killing you inside, only time will allow you to heal, the whys will be with you forever, and they will creep up a many of times, just know that the memories of Avery and the time that God allowed you to have every single smile and every day you had is memories forever. I pray the you and John and sissys will heal and smile again, dont feel quilty to smile, Avery would want that for you, she wants you to know that she gave you that everyday when she was on this earth, So close your eyes and feel her in you heart, and listen to the beautiful sounds of nature, and know her Angels breaths are there around you and your family, We love you and your family.

“ Johnny and Amber: I am so sorry for your loss, but no worries as your little angel is up in heaven shining down on you. I pray that in the days, weeks, months, and years to come that your hearts will be lighter and comforted with the love you she shared while she was here. Words cannot express how saddened I am that you are going through this right now. God bless you and your families... Chrissy

“ Avery was a very special sweet little girl and has touched many hearts. We grieve over the loss of one so young and struggle to understand God's purpose, but He will surround you with care and comfort in your time of sorrow. Avery is now smiling down on all of us and she will forever be missed. Our deepest condolences to you all, you are in our thoughts and prayers during this difficult time. We love you all very much.

“ A mother and father's love would never allow the memory of their own to parish. Even though Avery is not with us here on this Earth, she will always be here in our hearts, minds, and souls. One thing I can say in full confidence, is that you will see her again! The Lord in heaven is holding her for you right now. He is keeping her safe for the hour of your reunion. You Amber and John, have still much to accomplish here, but just know, you will see her again, you will see her, you will! Love, Maggie
