“ Bernard was a dynamic business person and loving family man, with his virtues well known in his home town of Van Buren, Aroostook County, Maine, where he first served as a Police Officer, then joined in the founding of the local credit union, and acquired and operated with his associates an independent insurance brokerage and real estate agency, as well as an apartment complex, all to the benefit of the people of his extended community, the entire St. John Valley. He was personable and gregarious, and a person of his word. Sincere condolences are extended to his spouse and soul-mate Aline, and to their family, with the hope that comfort is found in their memories of this special individual...

“ Dear Cyr Family, The world will not be the same without the "Top Banana" anymore. I remember many an insurance convention where Bernie and I would trade lies and stories about almost anything. His sense of humor and caring nature were trademarks that no one can or will forget. Bernie will be taking over now that he is finally at the end of his journey. The many souls in the here after best be ready for one of the greatest souls I have ever met. Peace be with you all and may the Lord comfort you in your sorrow.
Sincerely, Mark Fox Orrington, Maine
