“ Bonnie was in my mind and heart, my second mom. Casey and I grew up together, from school to dance groups, that is where it all started. Bonnie always made me feel like I was her own, she has been there for me in the good times and the bad ones. She was my rock when my dad passed away in 2001, she was there to celebrate when my son was born in 2003. When I moved from Florida, distance was hard, but we always knew that we were just a phone call away. One of my favorite memories with her was when she came to visit me in WV, we took a road trip to Amish country in Ohio, I've never seen her so happy, all the 100% handmade quilts hanging up in the little shops. I thought for sure that she was going to buy them all. Even though I never took to quilting, I enjoyed talking to her about it, picking up patterns for her at my local shops and going on shop hops with her all because she was so passionate about it, and it made her happy. I am beyond grateful that I hold so many cherished memories of her, she will always be my guardian angel. Rest in peace, until we meet again, I love you.

“ We met at the Quilting Palet taking a class together. Then a great quilt show came up in Jacksonville. I offered to drive marge and Linda said they would love to come(both very energic folks, not me) ur mom said no. A few weeks later on a Saturday I was sewing at home and my guarding angle said go to the Quilting Palette now. When I got there it was empty just karen the owner. I sat down and out of the bathroom comes Bonnie. I said why aren't u comming to the quilt show? She said I can't keep up with u all. I said I can't k eep up with marge and Linda either. I have a walker with a seat and u and I will go at out pace. We had the beat time ever and ur mom won a big gift basket. The show brought ur mom, marge and myself together. We had many good years Quilting together

Bonnie has been an important part of my life for many years, a true loving friend and I will really miss her.. She, Terry and I met at a quilting class many years ago and we have had so many good times together and created so many memories. Rest in peace my friend, you left too soon, I will think of you each time I start another quilt. Luv ya !!
