“ John, You know that I know where you are right now. These words might sound very hollow to you right now, but things will get better. Somehow, you've got to fight your way through this which is probably one of the worst things you will ever face in your life. But believe me, there is light at the end of the dark tunnel you are now trying to get through. You must commit yourself to survival. Look to God for comfort as you can. He will be there for you. Give it a try and listen for a response. It will come. And, you know that you have a solid group of friends that will give you all the support you want. And above all, take it one day at a time.

“ I am devastated to learn of your loss of Cally. She and I had many conversations and prayer when John was not well and throughout the years. She was always positive and encouraging to me and others. She did a super job with customers, like me. It has been a great pleasure to know her and be a part of her sunshine. She will be greatly missed. I am so sorry for your loss.
