“ Stan and Family, What moves through you is a silence, a quiet sadness, a longing for one more day, one more word, one more touch, you may not understand why Charlotte left this earth so soon, or why she left before you were ready to say good-bye, but little by little, you begin to remember not just that she died, but that she lived. And that her life gave you all memories too beautiful to forget. May your memories give you strength. May the peace which comes from those memories of love shared, comfort you now and in the days ahead. With our deepest sympathy and condolences. Our hearts are with you in this time of sorrow.
