“ My first memory of Uncle Clyde was of him relaxing in an easy chair, lighting up his pipe - - I thought that nothing smelled better than that pipe tobacco. He was special to me sitting there with his sweet smelling pipe and leather slide house slippers, bigger than life like a TV dad - - better than Jim Anderson (Fathers Knows Best) or Ward Cleaver (Leave it to Beaver). That image didn't fade as I grew and learned of his service in WWII, saw how he loved and cared for his family, and watched as he tenderly and lovingly cared for Aunt Lela in her last illness. It's sad that this wonderful man is no longer with us but I'm happy for his long and healthy life, the love of his children, the love and companionship he found with Gloria, and that he had family always near after her passing. Rest in peace, Sweet Uncle. Love you, Karen.

“ Uncle Clyde, hope your riding your convertible in the sky. Like when you took us for rides with the top down, and to drive-in movies. You will never be gone, and forever in my heart and mind. Your Loving Niece, Carol
