“ I only knew Danielle from passing and through others, but she was always happy and smiling. We were there that night and are greatly pained for the family. Danielle is rejoicing with God now and God will get those who loved and knew her through these trying times. Just know that she left an impact on many and was always a respectful loving young lady. May God bless her friends and family and help get them through. Also please remember Walter and his friends and family in your prayers as well. God Bless.
