“ Rest easy my friend, you are probably the only other person besides me that admits to liking Jiffy Mix cornbread.... You are missed and loved by many. There will always be an empty rocking chair on the porch

“ Goodbye to you my trusted friend
We had joy, we had fun
We had seasons in the sun

These words taken from the song Seasons in the Sun express some of my thoughts about Danny. He was my virtual friend but I felt closer to him than many of my actual friends.

I met Danny on the front porch of the I Miss West Virginia Coal Towns site. Conversing back and forth we found out that we both went to Stoco but at different times. He was best friends with my cousin Dale Henley and spent lots of time with Aunt Elizabeth and Uncle Fred at Whitby. He also knew my cousin Wright Hampton from Lillybrook.

He became Mayor of the "porchers" and appointed himself as the Welcome Ambassador. He got up early every morning, swept the porch, wiped down the rockers, put on the coffee and laid out breakfast on the sideboard. It was different every morning but always included cathead biscuits as big as your fist, cow butter and lots of homemade jams and jellies.

He was the first to know if one of our "porchers" was ailing and pass on the word so that we could all offer up a prayer of healing. If anyone was going thru a difficult time, he was there to lift them up. If anyone had an accomplishment he always responded with a big "you rock"! If anyone posted the news of a new grandchild, he was the first to offer congratulations.

I will miss our times on the porch but I know he is with loved ones gone before, especially his wife Barbara. If dogs are allowed in heaven, I know Danny right now is playing fetch with Joe Dilley. RIP dear friend.

“ I never met Danny but we were "porch" friends on social media. He was affectionally known as "The Mayor" and I thoroughly enjoyed his postings. I will miss our lively debates about the Stoco/Sophia rivalry and his memories of his beloved "Farco". RIP Mayor and fly high with the angels.

“ Danny was raised in the same area of my husband, Mickey. They attended the same high school. They were long time friends. My husband passed away in 2014 and Danny reached out to me on facebook with his kind words and encouragement after he heard about Mick'death. He never had anything but uplifting words to say to me or about my husband, but he was an encourager to everyone as was evidenced when you read comments that he made to others on facebook. The "front porch friends" who referred to him as the Mayor will miss him more than he will ever know. Rest in Peace my good friend.

“ Our Mayor will be missed by so many. He was my ray of sunshine every morning and I loved having breakfast and setting on the porch with him every morning, even if it was only a virtual visit. Sure felt real to me. He will be deeply missed.
