Obituary of David Angelinovich

David Edward Bradsell Angelinovich was born in Dorking, Surrey, England - July 26, 1953 and passed away on January 25, 2014.

David is survived by his wife, Louise, his parents Robert and Madge Bradsell, his brother Colin Bradsell(Helen), and two nieces, Sarah and Laura. David was proud of being from England and of Welsh descent. He was passionate about many subjects, especially history, science and politics. Probably the most important fact about David was that he was an insatiable reader. He could not be idle for five minutes without some book or magazine to read. Of course that made him his wife's Jeopardy champion.

David made an impression on everyone he met. He was not the most sociable person preferring small groups of friends and family. Though, he did enjoy interaction with those special people he included in his circle of friends. He will be missed.

“ David was passionate about many things including music. Some of his favorites were John Lennon, Enya, Neil Young, Adele, Pet Shop Boys and Kate Bush. At least I can remember him as I listen to his favorite songs. David was able to remind me of the simple joys in life. I will love him always.

“ *I had recently told a mutual friend that I will miss the e-mails from David- where he would forward VERY LONG newspaper and magazine articles on subjects he was passionate about. Although I did not always agree with them - I enjoyed how David found them so interesting. He will be missed. My condolences to his wife - my dear friend Louise - who we all love very much.
