“ Today, Nov 6th is all Saints Day. I lit a candle in David's name because he was our saint. He did all he could do for others, but then I realized we didn't lose him. He may not be here, but he's still with us, he's still our saint. What's different is he can be the saint that will touch so many more lives.

*Gone but never forgotten.. Our streets won't be the same without seeing Dave and his fur babies drive around in his golf cart We are so grateful for all he did for us with our home, for his kind heart and his upbeat attitude. He was everybody's friend as well as our handyman.
He was one of the hardest working guys we knew. RIP, Dave. Our

Our hearts are broken to hear of David's passing. He started out to be the best handyman anyone could have and ended up becoming one of our loved ones. His smile was contagious and his love not only for his sweet mother but also for his fur babies was over the top. We will miss you beyond measure, Dave.

We love you!
