Obituary of Deborah Gesner

Deborah Jean Harcourt Farrel Gesner

November 23, 1943 to November 26, 2015

Debbie died peacefully on Thanksgiving morning November 26, 2015 at her home in The Villages, Florida. She was born November 23, 1943 in Newburgh, New York to Stanley and Evelyn Harcourt. Debbie is the youngest of four daughters Betty Drake, Barbara H. Miller and Nancy Keen (pre-deceased). Debbie spent her childhood between Newburgh, New York and Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. She attended the Pine Crest School in Ft Lauderdale, and earned her Bachelors of Science from Columbia University. Debbie lived most of her adult life in Pine Orchard, Connecticut where she was an active member of the Pine Orchard Yacht and Country Club and worked as a real-estate broker. She lived her life to the fullest and truly enjoyed golf, bocce, contract bridge, mahjong, large ship cruising, catamaran sailing in the Caribbean, and river ship travel in Europe. Debbie will be remembered as a thoughtful and dedicated friend, loving companion, caring mother and wonderful grandmother. Debbie is survived by her devoted life partner Fred Waldron, sisters Betty Drake and Barbara H. Miller, her beloved sons and their wives Court and Wendy Farrel and Miles and Courtney Farrel, Fred's children and spouses Alex and Althea Waldron, Brian and Carrie Waldron-Brown and Jose and Allison Juves and her eleven cherished grandchildren Maclane, Leighton, Liam, Cedar, Lily, Eve, Penny Alix, Carter, Phoebe and Felix. It was Debbie's wish that her friends and family celebrate her life, so the family is planning an appropriate set of celebrations in The Villages, FL (late January), and in Pine Orchard, CT (early summer). “ My sincere condolences go out to Debbie's family for their loss. Debbie was my neighbor, and I truly admired her. She always seemed to be upbeat in spite of her medical problems.

“ I didn't know Debbie really well but I did play Bunco with her on Wednesday's @ City Fire. She was such a warm, sweet lady. She would always say to me "ok, it's the Debbie team". I am going to miss her. She truly was a fine lady. May she rest in peace.
