“ To the family: I had the privilege of working for your father the past several years. During that time, we built not only a successful working relationship, but also a friendship. He was always on task, but I came to appreciate his knowledge, sense of humor and especially his kindness to me. At times he would even crack jokes with me and I got him to chuckle several times. I will not only miss him as an boss but more importantly someone who became a friend and a mentor. I am sorry for your loss and I share in your tears.
