“ I miss you baby and I will always love you. I don't know how to live without you but I will learn because that's what you'd want. I'll look after our babies and grandbabies and share all the love you left. I'll see you again one day and what a reunion we'll have. Your wife.

“ The first time I met Harley. It wasn't like two strangers meeting. He welcomed me into their group of family and friends as if I had always belonged. He accepted me for the strange and unusual person I am and never made me feel that I had to be anything other than me. That earned him the highest honor of respect I could ever give out. Harley. You will always hold a special place in my heart. And to all the family. Just know my heart is with you all. You have truly suffered a great loss. I will surely miss him. RIP My Old Friend.

“ Harley was and always will be my second Daddy. The outpouring of remorse that has been shown through the last few days is a reflection of the kind of man he was. He had the biggest heart of anyone I know and would give anyone the shirt off his back if they needed it, even if he knew they didnt deserve it. He would do without just to help someone else. I am so grateful for the friendship he shared with my Daddy, after all that is what led me to Brad and the very blessed life that I live now. Harley passed that big heart on to Brad, Jesse, and all of his Grandbabies. I see it in them everyday, even more so this week as they try to move on without him. He was the best "Poppy", Daddy, Father-in-law, and "go to" guy around.....Harley I will miss our road trips, westerns, and our complaint sessions but I know you are still there when I need to bend your ear and vent a little. I will be forever grateful to you and look forward to the time when I get to join you on that porch swing in heaven.... ❤️❤️❤️❤️
