“ To my brother whom I so very much miss, I pray you are with those that went on ahead. I know you are in the Fathers arms and smiling down on us with that sweet smile. The candy will be divided soon and we will keep you in our hearts as always. Some day we will see you again. Until then just no our hearts will hold you dear and miss our times together. “ My Condolences to his companion and all the family and friends of James Jordan Sr. This is a difficult time for all and as with any loss emotions run high. Always keep in mind He was a son, a husband, father, brother, uncle, nephew, and companion to people and everyone loved him in their own way and he them. We all have memories of him, let's keep them in our heart at this time, talk about the good times, share the wonderful memories enjoy each other while we can and celebrate what this wonderful man has given to us in one form or another and what he did for this country in service. Let this time be of drawing closers and mending fences. May each and everyone of you who reads this draw comfort from the enjoyment of knowing James A. Jordan Sr. And what he brought to you. May he always have a line in the water and a pole in his hands.
