“ Mom, You have always been there for me, and continue to show me that you are still with me. The days are so hard, I call the house phone just so I can hear your voice again. I have more of you in me than I ever knew. And little things that I you have left here and there have brought me great comfort and sadness. I keep going through that last week and so glad we got to laugh and forever thankful for you waiting for me, but I just miss you so much. Thank you for the little books and letters you left. I know what we have is a special bond that is unbreakable just like we always said. I love you Momma!!
