“ There is a word to describe when we lose a parent or a spouse. But not when we lose a son. Watch him grown through the years and become a man is the best sight a parent can ask for. loosing such an important person and at a early age can be hard to cope with. It can take really long for the pain to go away but the most important thing we can't lose is hope and faith. There will be a time where all the suffering and even death would not exist anymore. Putting faith in God and his promises in the Bible can help us see the future with better eyes.
