“ Momma, I have no idea how I am going to face each day without you. I can still hear us singing the "Bad Boys" theme from COPS, as we went on a few late night adventures together. I was the Dorothy to your Sophia.

I'm so sorry you had to get this awful brain disease, as well as the lung disease. You were so strong, so stubborn. You fought so bravely until the end! I'm honored to share many of those self-preserving qualities, and so glad you passed them on to me. I love you to the moon & back, and higher than the numbers go! Thanks for being my Mom.
