“ One morning years ago I was leaving my home to officiate the funeral of a child. His name was Joshua. Still feeling very much at a loss for words I asked God for something more. The moment I stepped out my door the sun was just rising over the trees and shining intensely from behind a beautiful white cloud. The cloud was glowing and it's lining more gold than silver as the rays spoke "beautiful" beyond words. My very first thought following that little prayer and the amazing scene before me was this child is now an angel and God is letting me know that. The very 1st time we met Marissa her eyes were like those rays. They lit up the room in a way I'll never forget. Your loss is beyond words but keep in mind that God knows. God cares. God can. And, God will take care of Marissa as he will all of you. She is nearer to you than your hands and your feet, she is nearer than your very breath just as He is. Keeping you all close in our prayers. Love, Martin and Caemen Fischer

“ My sweet Marissa, Mommy Loves you so much. I miss you and I'm so sorry that you had to go to Heaven so early in life. I just wanted you to know that you're always going to be in everyone's hearts. We will always remember tickling you before bed and for your father and I kissing you together on both sides of your cheeks at the same time to see your smile was an unbelievable joy. From the bottom and top of our broken and missing you hearts, We love you and will forever miss you Marissa. Love Mommy and Daddy.

“ I can't imagine not seeing that sweet face smiling at me from her car seat, those big eyes and beautiful dimples. I am so thankful I was blessed with your family as neighbors. I will miss the visits from Marissa, but cherish the memory of them. I remember when she was still in the baby carrier you wore while walking, and Lola loved to lick those little feet and make her giggle. Lee and Jen, know that I am here, day or night if you need me. Words just can't begin to express how sorry I am for this devastating loss. Heaven has a new sweet angel, with dimples!
