“Mary Lee was my best friend when we lived on Euclid Avenue. We shared the same birthday. I remember taking my ukulele that I had received for my celebration to the McComb residence. I was so proud and a bit of a show off! Somehow her elbow came in contact with the back of the ukulele and cracked it! Needless to say, I was a bit deflated.

We had great times skating on the sidewalk, riding our bikes all around Leesburg, playing hopscotch, and marbles. Our favorite place to ride our bikes was Venetian Gardens; we conducted many exciting explorations there.

I have so many stories that I could share about our childhood escapades. The Chamings lived on the corner of Euclid and Carlton Court. Their home was always open to play board games such as Clue and Monopoly.

As I reflect, it was a wonderful time to grow up as our faith, family, and friends gave us a good foundation. I cherish the memories. My condolences to Mary Lee's family.

With love, Gail Emerson
