“ My father loved to travel. When growing up, I remember him as a traveling salesman. He'd take off from our home in upstate New York in his old jalopy, traveling around for a while doing his job, before returning home, often with gifts for us kids. He was a free spirited kind of person who loved travel, camping, fishing, beaches. And he was a kind man who never had negative things to say about people. I'll miss my father, as will many others.

To the family of his second wife, Willie Richert and especially John who grew up in Florida with Willie and Neil.

The his wife when he passed, Judy, and to all of her family. I wish you all fond memories of Neil and the times that you shared with him.

Neil led a full life and that is because so many people were a part of it. May he rest in peace.

“ What I remember most about Neil is his love of travel. He was always taking trips and looking for adventure. Just this past February, he wanted the whole family to join him on a cruise. He would pop in unexpectedly to visit his son, Qani, and me. He often didn't stay long, but he always made it a point to say hello if he was traveling in the area. He visited in Columbiaville, MI, Yellow Springs, Mt. Vernon, and Athens, Ohio. We even got him to stay overnight twice. Once in the very hot attic of a house I was staying in for the summer in Athens, Ohio and another time when we were in Falls Church, VA. He was also a gracious host. When we hitchhiked to Clear Water, he let us stay at his house and drove us to a National Park. When we visited in Lady Lake, he loaned us his golf cart. I hope his next adventure is as fulfilling as the one he just finished here on Earth. He will be missed.
