

Nevin A. White

May 25, 1956 - February 16, 2025

Nevin A. White, 68, of Leesburg passed away on Sunday, February 16, 2025 at his home.

Nevin was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana on May 25, 1956. He attended local schools and worked for much of his life as a truck driver delivering propane to area homes and businesses. He was a talented and lifelong musician, playing bass guitar in numerous bands in Indiana and Florida. The bands played frequently in clubs, bars and at private parties. His band recorded under the name "Sad Boy Trouble Band". He loved most music, but preferred Classic Rock and Jazz. Nevin was the ultimate record collector, owning over 10,000 albums that he continually bought and sold. He made and repaired jewelry and watches, which were frequently bought and sold as well.

Nevin was a homebody and low maintenance for Joey. He loved their Sunday pizza ritual and no meal was under-appreciated. He was an avid reader, preferring biographies about current leaders and celebrities. He loved sports, especially any game where the Cubs won. He looked forward to the upcoming start of spring practice.

Nevin leaves his beloved wife of 25 years Joey, sons Mark (Susan) Stout and Eric (Rhonda) Stout, all of Indiana and 5 grandchildren..

“ I have known Nervin and Joey for a number of years. He was so sweet. When we had that hurricane he came over and blew the leaves off our roof and even cut some limbs that was hanging over. I really appreciated that b cause I couldn't do. He made cookies when my mom died. Love you Joey. Carolyn McNeely
