“ My father, Paul Shiver, loved mechanics. When I was about 7 years old my father had this dirt bike that he repaired himself; he spent hours on it, took it for a couple test drives, and knew it was ready to go. My brothers, Joshua and Jeremy, and I, Cassandra, were all so excited that we all wanted to go for a ride with him. Suffice to say, we couldn't just take turns, so all four of us were on the bike riding in circles around a nearby parking lot. By the time we finished this adventure, we all had some scrapes. It was not the smartest riding with all of us but boy was it memorable. Lesson learned, never be afraid to take a fall if you want to enjoy the ride. That's like life.

“ Hey Paul, Just a line to say bye and I love you. I miss you already. Can't imagine you not being around for thanksgiving or christmas this year or ever again. I am very very sad that you left. Can't say much more, my eyes can't focus on the screen, too many tears. Love ya Bro, God Speed. We'll all see you in heaven another day. Love, David & Ginette

“ It is with great sorrow that we bid farewell to our friend and beloved Uncle Pauly. A soulful, solitary man who was kind, caring, witty and humorous Throughout the years we spent many wonderful and hazardous days on the water, fishing and fixing our boats. Pauly was our first mate and trusty mechanic. He shared our home and our family life. He will be sorely missed, we loved him very much. Pauly will remain in our hearts always. It is with much delight that his passing was on the evening of the meteor shower, we can see him in our minds eye, flying through the sky, waling...'whoopi!' Til the next time we meet, my God Bless you and keep you always, our beloved friend. 436
