“ So sorry to hear about this tragic loss. You barely had enough time to say goodbye before Dominic was taken from you. Dominic kept my parents lawn beautiful for years. Having suffered cancer myself, Dominic always asked my best friend about me, during treatment and after since, I moved away. Dominic was a very kind and caring individual. Cancer sucks!! No words will help take the pain away. You will take a lot time to heal, but know that there are many people here to help support you in the healing process. It is okay to cry, and okay to ask for help. You will need it, in some form. Much love to you all, and big hugs, from 4,550 miles away!
