“ Reva and I worked together at Holiday Hospital from 1983 until 1986 (I believe). She was a great person and nurse--we all loved her. She always talked about Hannah (was very sorry to hear about her as well). She was so proud of her family!! She was such an inspiration to all of the nurses that got to work with her. God Bless.....

“ Our thoughts and prayers are with the family. It's hard to know just what to say. I can imagine how Hannah greeted her grandmother with a hug and there was a joyful reunion. But those left behind feel the sting of death. I pray that God's presence will be experienced as you grieve and that you know there are people that love you and are praying for you.
