“ Dear Grandma,

There isn't a day that goes by that I don't think of you. Some dark days like today, thinking of you is what gets me through. You were so much more than a grandmother to me—you were the rock of our family, the guiding light that shone on us all. To me, you were an angel on earth.

You always saw the best in everyone, no matter what. You never judged or turned anyone away. You opened your heart and your home to children who weren't even your own by birth, but who became yours through love. You gave them a life full of understanding, compassion, and faith. You lived the words you preached from the Bible—kindness, forgiveness, and grace.

You never complained, Gramma. Even when you read the four-wheeler with me, just because I wanted you too. Thinking back, I don't remember you ever putting yourself first. You treated us grandkids as though nothing in the world mattered more than we did, Gramma. Your hugs made everything better, your voice calmed any fear I had at the time. Your eyes held such warmth and love that anyone who met you felt blessed.

Even now that you're gone, I feel you with me every day. The tattoo on my arm is more than ink—it's a promise to remember you, to try to be the kind of person you taught me to be. When I think of you, I remember how to love deeply, give freely, and keep my faith strong.

You lived well into your nineties, and you carried every year with grace and beauty. Even in old age, you were radiant inside and out, truth be told. Anyone who was lucky enough to meet you felt the power of your gentle touch and the kindness in your eyes. You always told me that the eternal will never be forgotten, and you were right, Gramma!! You will never be forgotten. You will always be the light of my life. I will carry your memory with me forever, and I will try every day to make you proud.

Grandma, for everything you gave me eternall your love, your wisdom, your example. I miss you more than words can say n I know you're watching over me I love you forever Grama I I miss your hugs

*With all my heart,
BRYAN BYARS*
