“Dad, you were always looking for a laugh. I remember when I had a sleepover and you scared us all for a while by rattling different windows and making creepy noises. It was all fun and games until everyone got snowed in and no one could go home. You ended up with a houseful of girls and nowhere to go. I miss the crazy things you did and said. You were a hardworking man who tried to make the best for your family. I love you and miss you so much!
