

Theresa "Terry" Ann Koffler Smith

November 4, 1935 - March 1, 2025

On March 1, 2025, surrounded by her 5 children, Theresa "Terry" Ann Koffler Smith left this world to join her beloved husband, Bobby Webb Smith, who predeceased her nearly 20 years earlier.

Terry (as her friends knew her) was smart, funny and able to fix nearly any problem just like MacGyver with a wire hangar and some duct tape. A beautiful only child of Bernard and Maxine Koffler, Terry's creative side came out in her many acting roles during her high school days. Her greatest pride in life is the children she raised and that she passed on her thrifty nature and love of family to all of them.

She enjoyed spending time with friends playing golf, mahjong and poker, or just relaxing at a fun party or happy hour. And she could be equally happy home alone playing hearts, spades or other games on her tablet, soaking up The Villages sun, relaxing and watching her KC Chiefs win another Superbowl, or her favorite golfers battle it out on the PGA tour.

Terry brought much joy and love into this world for those lucky enough to know her. We will all miss her dearly, and carry her with us in our hearts forevermore.
