“ Rhonda and Family, I didn't have the pleasure of seeing Tracy very often, but every time I did I left with a sense of fun. What I remember about her was her sense of humor- her way of lightening every situation. We were at a gathering with your family and Nonette said it was great the way you all teased each other. When I was buying beer at Publix she said "You are old enough aren't you." Retha, Tillman and every member of your family were the backbone of our company.
