To my one and only Love:

Every morning when we awoke we would always say "Good morning honey, "how are you" "did you sleep all right" to each other. At night we would say "Good night honey", "God Bless", "See you in the morning", "Love you". I cannot find a way to ever say goodbye. Even when apart our hearts are joined. We have a special bond together that even in death cannot be broken. God so blessed us with Jodi and Lynda and their spouses and grandbabies but our love was different, unique, lasting almost 65 years. I will still continue "Good Morning Honey" until God decides when I can be with you again.

Until I can be with you again.

All my love,

Your wife forever
