“Wayne was an awesome man and an even better Pap Pap. Riley loved spending time with him and Gram...he was always sooo excited when he found out he was coming for a visit and always had such excitement when telling us about his stay. I am thankful for his presence and influence in Riley's life. Our deepest sympathys to the family...please know that we are only a phone call away if needed, this goes for all of you!! May God be with you to see you through this tough time, have peace in knowing that we now have an AMAZING gardian angel watching over and protecting all of us.

“ Wayne, I am going to miss you soooooo much. I've been remembering things about you and how wonderful you are. I remember when I first met you and thought "Oh my gosh, what a giant teddy bear." You were soooooo good to Jamie and her kids and your kids and my kids and Jamie's family and all your grandkids. That's what a big teddy bear is supposed to be like, right? I will always have great memories of you -- like your wedding during the hurricane and how you were just so laid back. Like when you and dad were so drunk and fell off that jetski -- now THAT was hilarious! I remember how we used to drink so much coffee together (until you quit on me) and how we used to try to find the BIGGEST cups we could possibly find to give to each other. And how you gave me a flower for Christmas (poor flower -- it never stood a chance). And how you told my kids it was okay not to wear a seatbelt in the car. (Uncle Wayne said WHAT?) You will be missed sorely by many, but I know you are in God's presence now -- lucky devil! We'll always remember you sweet brother-in-law. All my love always.

“ Dear Wayne We will forever miss you and that beautiful smile of yours. We were so honored to call you our son in law. We will always be grateful that you and Jamie met each other . You showed you were soul mates and you both found what true love is. I know you are in heaven with our Father and are looking down on your family and friends. This world is a better place because of you and your kindness and to everyone you met. Rest in peace my dear. Love Mary
